Motto of the Community Life

„It is only when we stand up, with all our failings and sufferings, and try to support others rather than withdraw into ourselves, that we can fully live the life of community.“

Jean Vanier, Community and Growth

Foreword

Pandemic year 2020 affected the life of community members in Villa Vallila too. The year started normally, nevertheless an important change was made: the official seat of the institution was moved to Červený Újezd, the address is identical with the community house now.

All community members went to the Kašperské Hory for a stay in the middle of January, some people took part in a traditional masquerade ball in February. But then news about contagion started to spread. Therefore, the community house was closed in March – it was accessible for assistants and a director only. The core members rested “at home” in the Villa, no one went to work, no visitors came, respite care was limited. However, this time was also a time of new opportunities and thoughts about the life in the Villa. Common sharing, common trips to the woods, long walks in the nature filled the free time – which was both recommended and beneficial for the whole community. Maybe, it contributed to strengthening of the collaboration of the assistant team and the leaders. Nevertheless, all watched the news about contagion with anxiety, which troubled some inhabitants with thoughts about the future.

The situation seemed to improve during the summer, the offer of respite stays broadened – there was an increased interest in them. And we succeeded to organize a perfect garden party in the end of August. It became a celebration of gathering, creation, performance and joy of life! Further epidemic measures came into effect in the fall, further restrictions and of course further troublesome thoughts.

A traditional Advent concert had to be called off. Scheduled meetings with an envoy from l’Arche were organized as short online meetings only. Employees in the Villa started to be regularly tested in November. This was a way how to support common safety. Luckily, no one from the community was infected.

The strange and troublesome year ended by a common meeting with a Christmas dinner and celebration of the Christmas hope.

Eva Klíková – director (community leader)

What is Villa Vallila

The organization Villa Vallila provides social services in a community house since 2001.

It was originally created as a home for young people, who could not live independently due to their health or social handicaps. We were inspired by Jean Vanier (l'Arche) since the very beginning and we struggled to form a community of people with handicaps and without (assistants), where people can develop their gifts and abilities and are accepted with their problems and respected.

We were admitted as a member of an international organization L'Arche International in 2018 and officially we are a Project L'Arche, Czech Republic now.

Ten people with various adaptation problems live now in Villa Vallila.

Legally, we are providers of social services in the Czech Republic. We offer a service of sheltered housing since 2004, and respite services since 2007. We consider provision of social services in the form of a community living as a unique way for full life of people with handicaps, which enables developing of own gifts and abilities.
